

Office Health & Sickness Regulations

For All Staff at the Tashkent Office

What's stocked in the office, when to work from home, how to report an absence, and who owns what.

ISSUED BY

Shakhzod Kodirov
COO, Freshman Academy

APPROVED BY

Valera Arakelyan
CEO, Freshman Academy

OWNER

Sofina
Office Manager

1 Purpose

These regulations set out how the team manages illness in the office: what supplies are available, when staff should work from home, and how to report an absence. The goal is to limit the spread of illness while keeping classes, consults, and client meetings running smoothly.

2 Supplies

- Disposable masks and basic cold/flu medication will be stocked in the kitchen for staff use.
- Hand sanitizer will be placed at the entrance and near shared equipment (printer, coffee machine).
- A basic first-aid kit with a thermometer will be kept in the same storage location.
- Sofina (Office Manager) is responsible for purchasing and restocking all of the above.

3 When to Stay Home or Work Remotely

Staff experiencing fever, active cough, or flu-like symptoms should not come into the office. Rules differ slightly by role:

Role	Rule	Action needed
Consultants	May work from home while symptomatic. Must notify.	Notify Shakhzod or department leader
Teachers (all teaching departments)	Either arrange a replacement early, or if teaching in person, wear a mask and take reasonable precautions.	Find replacement or wear a mask
Admin / operations	May work from home. Notify.	Notify Shakhzod or department leader

4 Reporting an Absence

- Notify Shakhzod or your department leader before the workday starts, not mid-morning, so coverage can be arranged.
- A short message confirming symptoms is sufficient (e.g. “Flu symptoms, working from home today”).
- For absences longer than 2–3 days, a doctor's note is preferred over a pharmacy receipt.
- Teachers must flag the specific class or session affected so a replacement can be arranged.

5 Common Area Hygiene

- Shared surfaces (desks, door handles, kitchen counters) should be wiped down daily during flu season.
- Windows should be opened where possible to improve ventilation.

6 Ownership

Sofina (Office Manager) owns supply purchasing and restocking.

APPROVED BY • CEO
Valera Arakelyan
Freshman Academy

ISSUED BY • COO
Shakhzod Kodirov
Freshman Academy

OWNER • OFFICE MANAGER
Sofina
Freshman Academy